- Choose from an assortment of styles, colors, patterns, and fabric textures.
- Drapery lining is critical to any custom look. If room darkening is important, we can add a blackout liner.
- Mix and match with other window coverings; drapery panels pair well with shades and blinds.

- Create light filtering, semi-opaque, or blackout window coverage.
- Take full control of the light in the room. Lift shades to any height and adjust the amount of light control.
- Customize! Designer shades in various textures, colors, and patterns.

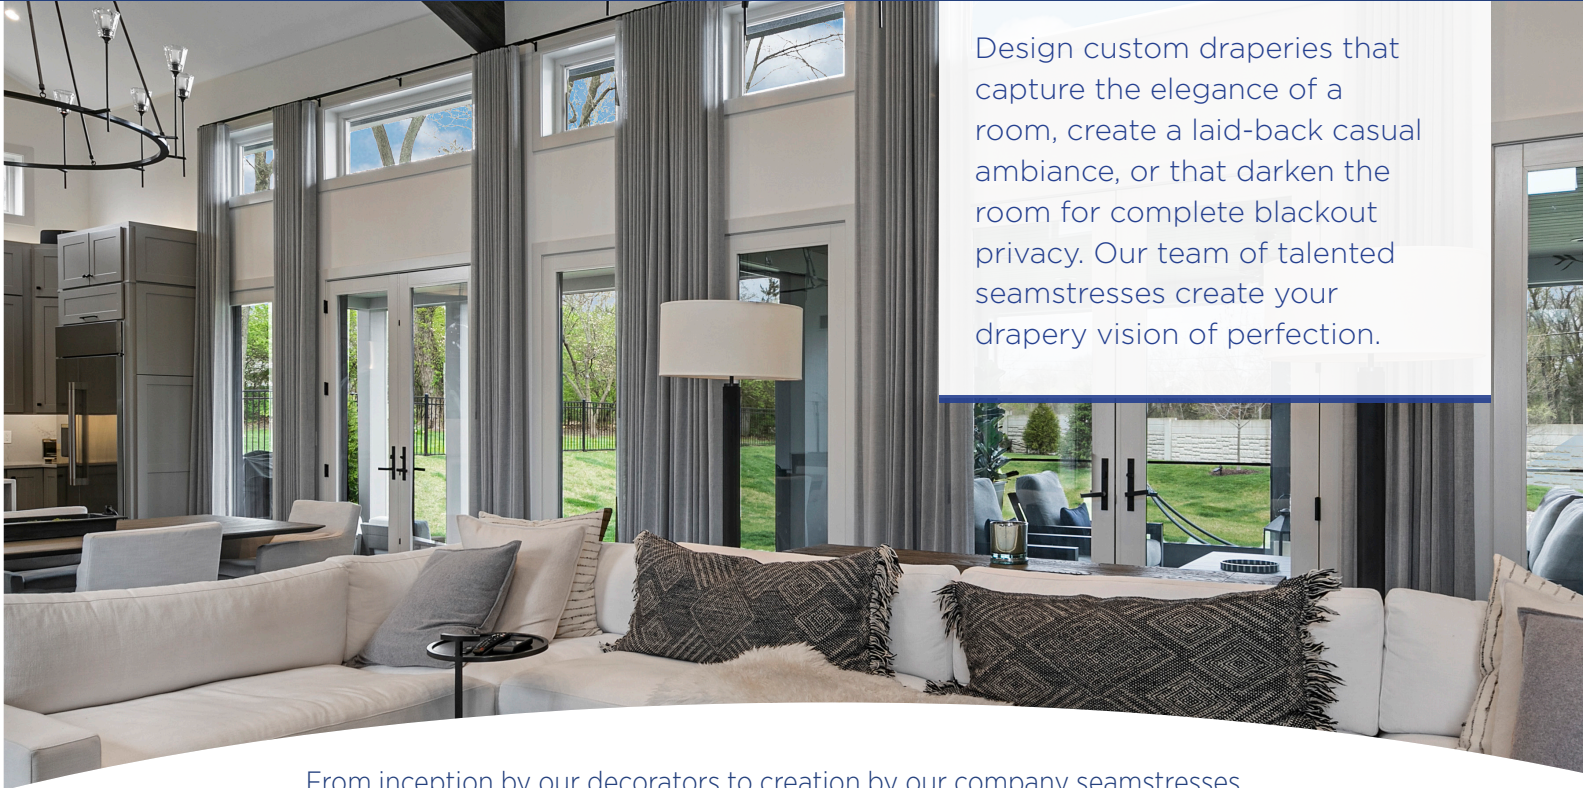

- A more timeless permanent window covering.
- Provide additional insulation to windows.
- Dual functional control: tilt the slats or open the shutters.

- A window covering that always stays in style.
- Add more light to a room. Blinds let users open the slats or close the slats to control privacy and light control.
- Design with faux wood or rustic, natural wood and embrace sustainability.

Pair soft valances with other window coverings or install them as a standalone design element. Valances create stunning statements with a gentle curved or pleated layout.

Swags

Draping elegantly around a pole or attached to a board, swags function as a stylish extra element to partner with draperies. The delicate swoops elevate the sophistication of a formal dining room, parlor, living room, or bedroom.
